

WILD GOOSE CHASE

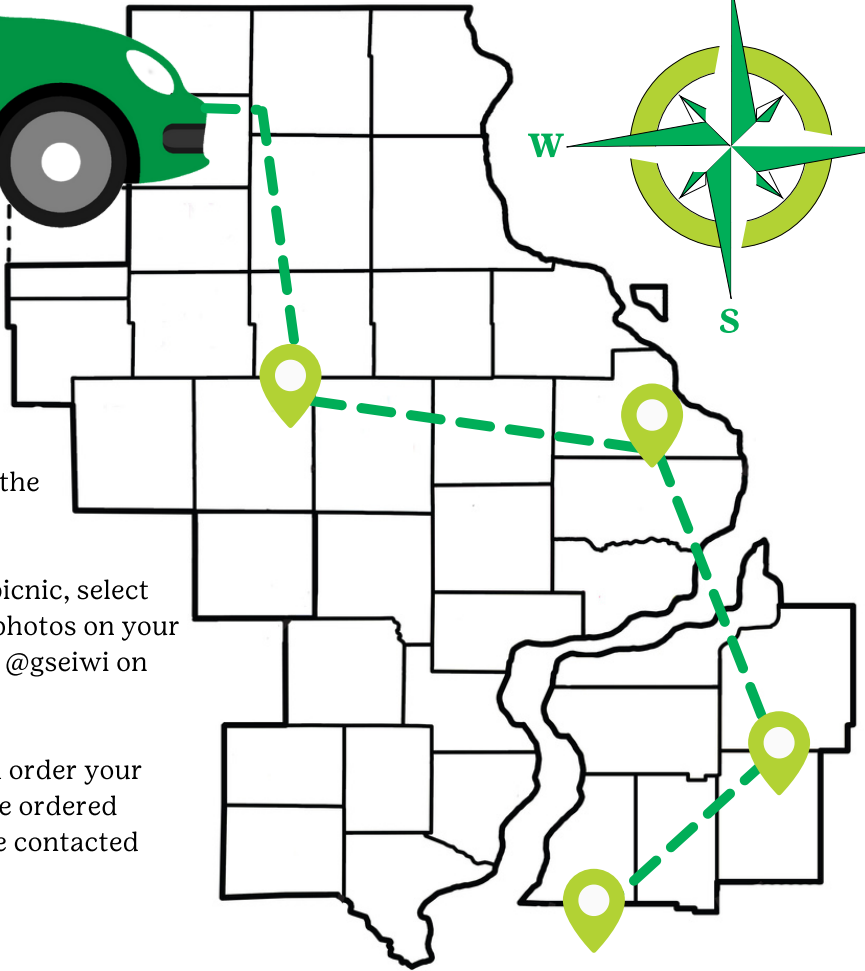

Join our road trip adventure to discover the special, unique, and weird sites across our council region. Girls and their families or troops can take road trips to locations that make our communities unique and achieve the Wild Goose Chase patches.

HOW TO PARTICIPATE:

1. Decide which Wild Goose Chase your family will embark on; there are five different maps based on our council's regions.
2. Girl Scouts will then read the clues and, with the help of Google, find each location.
3. Gather your Wild Goose Chase team, pack a picnic, select your car ride playlist, and document plenty of photos on your travels. (Use #GSEIWIWildGooseChase and tag @gseiwi on Instagram and Twitter!)
4. Complete your map? Submit your photos and order your patches on GirlScoutsToday.org. Patches will be ordered on October 1. Parents and Troop Leaders will be contacted when they are ready for pick up.

HELPFUL TIPS:

Daisy, Brownie, and Junior Girl Scouts should work together with their families or troop leaders to chart where to go and in what order.

Cadette, Senior, and Ambassador Girl Scouts should go “old school” and use a paper map! Using the map, girls should direct their parents or guardians to find each location.

Parents and guardians can scan the QR Codes on the map to identify the correct locations if needed. This challenge is on your honor so remember to be honest and fair Girl Scouts.

The majority of experiences are free. A dollar sign on the clue will indicate if there is a small cost to attend the location.

Finished guessing?

Scan for the correct locations!

1. Visit this Iowa site to learn about how two Iowa girls made a connection with Anne Frank. 💰

2. Find this Ripley's Believe it or Not designation of the World's most crooked road.

3. You may feel like you have traveled to a jungle to visit this Swinging Bridge named after saddened lovers.

4. The trail system here has names like Steamboat Rock, Devil's Punch Bowl, and Fat Man's Squeeze. Bring your water and see if you have the fortitude to hike all three!

5. The National Register of Historic Places has this store as the oldest ongoing ice cream/soda parlor in the world. Founded in 1860 stop in to get the "scoop"! 💰

6. We have friends in Girl Scouts we treasure. Visit this house which hosted the Chinese President Xi Jinping when he visited Iowa in 1985.

7. Named after those pesky green plants we pull up in our gardens, this park overlooking the Mississippi River has a peacock statue for your bird picture quest!
